

Pathway to College Scholarship Program

The Something for Everyone event was created as a special fundraiser to celebrate and award our college bound students. The event provides us with essential funding so that we can help our growing list of college bound applicants. It also allows us to take selected candidates on college tours to campuses nationwide.

In 2007, the Pathway-to-College Program was able to award 34 deserving students with scholarships to their respective colleges and universities.

About EOYDC.....

Founded in 1973, the East Oakland Youth Development Center (EOYDC) is a community-based 501(c)(3) nonprofit agency dedicated to developing our children and youth into healthy, self-supporting and aware citizens and adults. Since 1978 the Center's FREE comprehensive programs have been coordinated to meet our clients' emotional, physical, intellectual, and economic needs. The Center is open Monday through Friday and is located in the Elmhurst District of East Oakland. While our primary focus are the residents of the East Oakland community, all youth and their families are welcome to participate in the services offered at the EOYDC.

EOYDC offers programs in the following areas:

Pathway-to-College Program

The Pathway-to-College Program was created to make applying to college easier. Each Pathway-to-College Program participant is equipped with a Pathway-to-College Handbook which details information regarding admission requirements, the application process, assessment tests, the college admissions essay, the appeals process, financial aid, how to transfer, and a calendar of important dates and deadlines to help the individual plan out their path.

EOYDC's goal is to allow students to feel supported in their goals and help build a framework for their future. We provide resources such as college catalogs, applications, brochures, and schedules for specific colleges. We offer informational workshops on preparing for college and time management, as well as SAT and ACT test preparation materials.

Resources

College Fair

The Pathway-to-College Program hosts a college fair annually. The fair provides participants with a face to face opportunity to network and receive information from representatives of various post-secondary institutions.

2007 College Fair

College Presentations

The Pathway-to-College Program frequently brings in representatives from various colleges and universities to present to our students. Participants learn more about specific institutions of higher learning and are able to ask questions about the admissions process.
